Nice of Lena.
New York, Sept. 17.—In return for the iron bound anti-nuptial agreement by which Robert Chanler turned his fortune over to his bride, Lena Cavallerie, it developed today that the couple entered into a verbal agreement by which Cavallerie would clear Chanler's property of its mortgaged indebtedness. Also, she would pay the first $20,000 coming to her from their written agreement to Chanler's first wife as alimony due from Chanler.

AMATEUR MATADOR IN DAVID'S STUNT

STUNS MAD STEER AND SAVES
HIS OWN AND SON'S LIFE.

Assuming the part of a matador, Jerome Smith, the giant blacksmith foreman of the Illinois Central railroad shops, saved the life of his son as well as protecting his own life, when they were charged by an angry steer. The thrilling scene was enacted on the Mayfield road near the Metzger slaughter pen, where several steers were being driven for slaughter. When within a short distance of the pen they became unruly, and broke away. The Smith boy was standing near, and one frightened steer charged at him. Mr. Smith was quick to see the danger, and ran to his son. The maddened animal changed his course, but charged at Mr. Smith. Mr. Smith is a large man physically, and something of an athlete. Calmly reaching down he seized a large rock, and waited until the steer was within ten feet of him. With all his strength he hurled the rock. The missile struck the bull between the eyes, and stunned him. When the steer was ready to charge again, Mr. Smith as well as his son had escaped from danger, and the butchers recaptured the steer.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS TO CELEBRATE OCT. 12

October 12, which was made a state holiday and designated as Columbus Day by the last state legislature, will be observed by Knights of Columbus from all over western Kentucky at Waverly. A large attendance is assured, and probably several hundred Knights from Paducah will make the trip. For their accommodation there will be a special train from Paducah, leaving the Union station at 6 o'clock on the morning of October 12. For the occasion there will be a number of gifted orators. Father O'Neil, who is well known in Paducah, will dedicate the new Catholic church at Waverly. Bishop O'Donoghue will be present as will also Father H. W. Jansen, formerly pastor of the St. Francis de Sales church.

Merchants to Close Half Day For Fair

Merchants, retail and wholesale, are requested by the fair association to close their stores Friday, September 30, at noon, and go with their employees out to the fair on Paducah day and meet the country people there. There is nothing the merchants could do that would benefit the city and their trade more. At Lexington, Louisville and Frankfort this was done. It can be done here without the loss of a dollar in trade, and with the gain of many.

From the point of view of trade, the fair is part of a general plan to attract people from western Kentucky, west Tennessee and southern Illinois to Paducah; to make Paducah the market point, the amusement point and the assembling point for the territory of which this city is the metropolis. Horse racing and the display of agricultural products, livestock and materials on the market here,

MURDER FOR $5.

Atkins, in a controversy over a $5 order is expected to be brought out at the coroner's inquest today. The coroner announces that A. G. Hanson, manager of the Atkins company, was the only eye witness to the tragedy.

SEES FATHER DIE IN PICTURE SHOW

YOUNG WOMAN TAKES LAUD-NUM IN THE PRESENCE OF THEATER AUDIENCE.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 17.—A panic followed the probably attempted suicide, in a moving picture show here today, of Miss Leah White. She had just viewed a scene depicting her father, who recently died, in one of the picture shows, and grief over his death prompted her to take laudanum. After taking the dose, she staggered down the aisle, screaming. She will probably die.

Pos'masters of Purchase.

The Postmasters' association was attended by a representative body from Western Kentucky. Nine out of ten eligible members for membership were present. None of the western postmasters were elected officers this year as they have held office frequently and the policy of passing the honor around was observed. J. T. Stevens, of Hickman, was on the nominating committee. Postmaster George Bury, of Clinton was a committee man also. Those present were: Prentiss Thomas, of Cadiz; Dr. C. H. Linn, of Kuttawa; A. Downs, Murray; W. S. Griffith, of Benton; L. S. Mason, of Mayfield; J. T. Stevens, of Hickman; George W. Bury, of Clinton; F. M. Fisher, of Paducah; George Crider, of Marion; and Fred Ashton, postoffice inspector.

Alleged Sunday Selling Code.

Charged with violating the Sabbath, Dan Galvin, a saloon keeper at Fifth and Norton streets, was arraigned in police court this morning. The case was reset for next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The warrant, sworn out by Chief of Police Slinger, accuses Galvin of selling liquor on Sunday to John Pace. Witnesses in the case are Irvin Pace, George Wade and Finney Malone.

The Final Game.

Harrisburg players make their last appearance of the season on the Paducah diamond this afternoon. Paducah has taken two games of the series, and expect to win the third this afternoon. Farthing or Hastings and Fish will be the battery for the visitors while Gwin and Overton will work for the Indians. Payne is out of the game, adding another to the hospital corps. Tomorrow the final game of the season in Paducah will be played with Hopkinsville as the attraction.

Merchants to Close Half Day For Fair

are assembled at the fair ground at considerable expense of time and money to entice people here. If Paducah people, and particularly Paducah merchants, themselves do not patronize the fair, it would be rash to expect outsiders to come. If the outsiders do come and fail to find a crowd at the grounds, and Paducah merchants fail to meet them, local trade will lose the benefit of all the work this affair has entailed.

OHIO CAMPAIGN IS OPENED TODAY BY REPUBLICANS

Secretary Wilson and Warren J. Harding, Candidate for Governor, Speak.

Tennesseans Still at Sea Over Break.

BOATELL TO BE INDEPENDENT

Kenton, O., Sept. 17.—The Republican state campaign was opened here today when voters, nominees and politicians gathered to hear the first pronouncement of Warren G. Harding, who opposes Harmon for governor. Harding and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson were the principal speakers. Harding talked only of state issues.

Head May Oppose Hooper.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 17.—Capt. Ben W. Hooper, the Republican candidate for governor, who was endorsed by the Independent Democratic convention here on Wednesday, it is announced will open his campaign at Mountain City, in the extreme northeastern part of the state, on September 21. In the selection of Mountain City for the scene of the firing of the first shot Captain Hooper was influenced in a measure by sentimental reasons, for it was from this county that more than half the company which Captain Hooper commanded in the Spanish-American war was recruited.

There is some talk here to the effect that William J. Bryan will be asked to take a hand in the pending fight in Tennessee, but so far it is nothing but talk. Absolutely no effort has been made to sound Mrs. Bryan on the subject.

It is not unlikely, it is said, that Senator Taylor, ex-Chairman W. O. Verrees of the Independent committee, Chairman Nathan G. Robinson of the Democratic committee, and Gen. Harvey Hannah may join in an address to the Democracy of the state within the next day or two.

Ex-Mayor James M. Head arrived here this afternoon from Louisiana, where he had been on legal business. He has given a warm welcome, many Democrats declaring to him that he would be the next governor. If he would accept the nomination, Mr. Head has never given up his citizenship in Tennessee. On the contrary he has repeatedly voted in primaries and regular elections in Nashville since he became connected with eastern interests.

There is, however, no sign of the Democrats centering upon any particular man for governor so far. Everybody is waiting while looking over the field. The pronounced purpose is to select the strongest and most available man.

Standpatter Wins.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 17.—Unofficial but nearly complete returns from the first congressional district show that Wm. E. Humphrey, standpatter, received 433 votes more than the necessary 40 per cent of the total.

The provision of the state primary law, which requires electors to mark their second choice where the candidates number four or more, gives an opportunity to contest the nomination.

Thousands of voters, chiefly Humphrey men, did not mark their second choice and the ballots were thrown out. Thomas P. Revelle, an insurgent, declares that he will contest the nomination.

Boatell Independent.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Congressman Henry Sherman Boatell, who was defeated by nearly 1,000 votes in yesterday's primaries by F. H. Gansberger, who proclaims himself a progressive Republican, stated today that he will run independently. Tomorrow Mr. Boatell will leave here for Washington, and it is believed for Beverly also. "I will run independently and beat my rivals on the simple principles of responsible representative government," said Mr. Boatell. "I place no reliance in direct primaries. In my district less than one-third of the Republican voters went to the polls. Pure democracy always has been a failure. The initiative and referendum, direct vote for senators—these are vagaries. The idea of 100,000,000 people trying to legislate direct on subjects that individually they do not understand is not practicable."

Wilson Quits Princeton.

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 17.—Dr. Woodrow Wilson, who was nominated for governor of New Jersey by the Democratic state committee, said this afternoon that he would offer his resignation as president of Princeton university to the board of trustees at its next meeting on October 20.

It is understood that Mr. Wilson will not urge the trustees to accept his resignation immediately. Telegrams have been pouring in on Mr. Wilson by the score since last night. Dr. Wilson mentioned especially one from Frank S. Katschbach, Jr., of Trenton, his strongest rival for the nomination.

One of the telegrams received was from Norman E. Mack, national Democratic chairman. Others came from the South. President Wilson's old home, and one was from Europe. Regarding the campaign, Dr. Wilson said that he does not expect to make a great many speeches.

West End Addition Being Laid Off By Syndicate on Slope Along Line of Gregory Heights Street Cars

Richmond Parties Secure About Thirty Acres--Will Put in Sewers, Lights, Gas,
Water and Sidewalks

A prominent eastern firm which has developed high class suburban real estate in all of the southern states, has acquired property in the west end suburbs of Paducah lying north from Jefferson street, and surveyors are now engaged in plotting off the ground into residence lots, which will be provided with all modern conveniences, including a private system of sewerage.

As an encouragement to early builders the firm will dispose of the property, after its improvement at reasonable figures, and if the present plans materialize, Paducah's growth will be rapid in that section.

Messrs. R. Y. Zachary and N. C. Raymond, of Richmond, Va., comprise the firm, which has just come into possession of the excellent site.

In an interview with a reporter for The Evening Sun today both spoke very encouragingly of their plans and unfolded several ideas in public utilities to be observed in the preparation of the ground for building purposes.

The property lies upon an elevated district, north of League park and extending east and west to include thirty-second and thirty-third streets and abutting grounds. In all it consists of approximately 30 acres, which will be platted off in blocks to correspond to those of the city. Engineers are now laying off the streets and sidewalks. The improvements to be installed will be water mains, gas electric lights and sewerage.

No estimate for the cost of the work was made, but it was inferred that the improvements will run far into the thousands with the sewerage idea being carried out. A leading engineer of Cincinnati will be secured to provide plans for the sewerage and the drainage will be especially adequate. The improvements are to begin at once.

Their Second Visit.

This marks the second visit of Messrs. Zachary and Raymond, who arrived last week. They were attracted to Paducah earlier in the year, formulating plans for the acquisition of the ground. In speaking of the deal today, they said they had been developing high class real estate in the suburbs of many southern cities in the last few years. Their business is to improve what they consider to be desirable residence property, but not to construct buildings. Both will remain here for some time directing the work. They consider the site one of the best outside and near the city, as the property lies along the Gregory Heights car lines to the city. Within a few weeks they will begin extensive advertising throughout this section of the state and predict a marked development in the property.

AVIATOR GETS CHECK.

Aerial Exploits of Britisher Rewarded by Taylor Prize.

Boston, Sept. 17.—The brilliant aerial exploits of Claude Grahame-White the British aviator, were applauded at a banquet at the Algonquin club. The feature of the evening was the presentation to Mr. Grahame-White by Gen. Charles H. Taylor, proprietor of the Boston Globe, of a check for $10,000, representing the prize offered by the Globe for the Boston Light trip of thirty-three miles.

trustees at its next meeting on October 20.

It is understood that Mr. Wilson will not urge the trustees to accept his resignation immediately.

Telegrams have been pouring in on Mr. Wilson by the score since last night. Dr. Wilson mentioned especially one from Frank S. Katschbach, Jr., of Trenton, his strongest rival for the nomination.

One of the telegrams received was from Norman E. Mack, national Democratic chairman. Others came from the South. President Wilson's old home, and one was from Europe. Regarding the campaign, Dr. Wilson said that he does not expect to make a great many speeches.

Roosevelt at Syracuse.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 17.—50,000 persons, attending the state fair here this afternoon, heard Colonel Roosevelt defend his "new nationalism" in a public speech. Taft's effort for a tariff commission received an endorsement.

DIES IN PRISON.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 17.—Advices received here today say William Harrington, an American, died Monday in an insane asylum at Ancon, Panama. Harrington was arrested two months ago, charged with not paying fully for some drinks, and without trial was sentenced to jail for 60 days, thrown into stocks and beaten.

FALL BUSINESS STARTS OFF WELL

MERCHANTS PLEASED WITH CONDITIONS AND OUTLOOK—
TOBACCO SALES.

BANK CLEARINGS.

This week$662,469
Same week last year 682,219

Fall business is starting off in nice shape, according to the merchants, who are well pleased over the outlook. The cool days of this week have reminded the people that warm weather will not last much longer, and the fall exhibits of clothing are seasonable. All of the merchants have nice displays of fall goods, and the customers are unusually fortunate. A heavy fall trade from the surrounding towns is anticipated this fall.

For several weeks there has been a slight decrease in the bank clearings as compared with last year's figures. However, this is not because business is not as good, but because of the early completion of the tobacco sales. The tobacco sales were cleaned up at least three months earlier than ever before this year, and now the tobacco market is dull. The growers are busy cutting the weed and firing it. Even the earliest deliveries will not begin until several weeks. Some of the buyers have started out already securing a line on the conditions. The tobacco market will be unusually heavy this fall.

DRY CANDIDATES ARE NOMINATED

RELATED RETURNS CHANGE RE-SULTS IN FIFTY-FIRST ILLI-NOIS DISTRICT.

Metropolis, Ill., Sept. 17. (Special.)—Related returns show that the Fifty-first legislative district went dry at the primary Thursday, nominating Senator Douglas Helm, of Metropolis, and John P. Mathis, of Johnson county, as representatives, over Durfee and Hill. G. W. English, the Democratic representative, was renominated. First reports were that Hill and Durfee had won. The vote in Massac county was: Hill, 649½; Crawford, 310½; Walker, 278½; Mathis, 266; Durfee, 240; Barker, 136.

DEFENDANT KILLS HIMSELF AT TRIAL

BEFORE JURORS IN MURDER
TRIAL GET CASE THEY ARE FORESTALLED.

Doniphan, Mo., Sept. 17.—Thomas H. Kennon, on trial here for the murder of F. M. Hughes last April, shot and killed himself in the Cordwell House this morning. Practically all of the evidence had been submitted and the case would have gone to the jury this afternoon. The Hughes murder grew from the marriage of Hughes' son and Kennon's son over the protest of the girl's father. Both men were wealthy farmers.

—All of the street cars in the loop district were dead this afternoon for about ten minutes when the trolley wire at Third street and Kentucky avenue broke. Only the cars in the business district were affected, as the other street car lines are on separate circuits.

SIDNEY CHILDRESS THINKS HE IS ENTITLED TO DIVORCE FROM HER.

Jealousy is given as the reason by Sidney J. Childress, why he should be given a divorce from his wife, Laura F. Childress, after 20 years of married life. He alleges that his wife is jealous of him. At these times, he alleges, she was so disagreeable that he was forced to leave home to secure any peace. On August 14, 1908, he alleges she drove him from his home and has refused to permit him to return. The couple married in Graves county in 1888 and separated August 14, 1908. There are two children, Minnie, 18, and Daisy, 12 years old. For the first time in many moons a southpaw twirler for Paducah and pitched the team to victory. That was what Lee Hart did yesterday, and the fans got more enjoyment out of the victory because Hart is a Paducah lad. His twirling was the feature of the game, and he had the big Harrisburg players at his mercy all the way. The score was 5 to 1.

Arrayed against Hart was "Crazy Snake" Calbert, who had plenty of steam and a few good curves in stock. Until the fifth inning nothing like a hit was registered against him, but in the sixth inning the Indians got right after him and walloped the ball sufficiently to cinch the game. With a good cross fire ball, Hart was invincible with men on bases. Harrisburg would have been treated to another dose of whitewash, but for a wild throw of Brahmie. Hart was never in better shape and the little southpaw had the visitors completely fooled.

A Paducah battery won the game, as Overton was removed from behind the bat, and officiated in center field in the patched up outfield. Eddie Brahmie was behind the bat, and did good work.

Umpire Keisker officiated in the game and his work generally was satisfactory. At the start of the game it looked like he gave Paducah the hot end of it, and particularly Dummy Payne. In the fourth Payne laid down a bunt and beat it to first, as the throw from Calbert drew Gust off the bag, but Keisker never saw it. In the sixth Payne stung one down to Miller, who was accredited with the put-out. Payne dived for the bag and apparently beat it out, but his umps said "nay."

It was one of those games that kept the fans on edge. Right in the first inning the visitors scored. Miller was first up and stung a hot one towards Payne. The sphere hit his shoe instead of his glove and Miller was safe. Miller stole second and went to third on a throw to center field instead of second by Brahmie. He scored when Taylor bunted, and it was not fielded in time to tag Miller. The reason the fans looked blue was because Calbert was mowing the little Indians down as fast as they appeared at the plate.

By daring base running the Indians were able to score in the fourth. Anderson led off with a walk. Payne laid down a bunt and was called out at first when Dewitt pulled Gust off the sack. Anderson never stopped at second but went on to third and made a grandstand finish by taking a long dive for the bag. Gust made a high throw to Dewitt, who muffed the ball. Vonadore knocked a long fly to Hastings in left and the score was tied when Anderson scored.

In the fourth after Carroll had gone out Miller to Gust, Brahmie singled to left. He stole second and third bases and scored, when Dewitt muffed the throw from Fish to catch him at third. That score put Paducah in the lead amid the whoopings of the fans. Then in the sixth inning victory was clinched.

Anderson was first up and laid down an infield hit. Payne hit a hot one to Miller, who ran to first, and according to Umpire Keisker reached the sack first. Then Vonadore singled and Anderson scored. Hart poked out a single to left field. Carroll tried hard, but was out Tintin to Gust. Brahmie drove out a single to center, and Varnadore and Hart scored. After that another score was secured. Calbert settled down and was steady the remainder of the game, while Hart never wavered.

Lost on Errors.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 17.—Tall Pitcher Crain twirled Hopkinsville to victory yesterday afternoon and then his teammates made three costly errors and permitted two Clarksville players to score and lost the game. The score was 2 to 1. Bailey was in good form, but was hit more freely than Crain. The defeat was disappointing to the local fans, as Clarksville has won a majority of the series.

McLeansboro, Ill., Sept. 17.—In a pitchers' battle yesterday between Kraft and Lyman Johnson, McLeansboro won by a score of 4 to 2. Johnson appeared the better twirler until one inning when the league leaders got right after his twisters and batted in four runs. Kraft was in good form and was hit harder than Johnson, but kept them scattered.

Dope.

Mrs. Hastings and Mrs. Calbert are with their husbands, who are a prominent part of the Harrisburg team on this trip. They are fans, but have had little opportunity to rejoice, as the Indians have won two games.

Carroll made a beauty stop yesterday. Calbert drove one at him that almost carried him off his feet, but he retired the big pitcher at first.

The Harrisburg team is a nice bunch of ball players. They do not beef at the umpire, and play ball all the time. Hastings is one of the best managers of any team in the Kitty.

Only one more chance for the fans to see league ball in Paducah this season, and the ball lot should be packed tomorrow. The scrappy Hopkinsville Reds will be the attraction, the Sunday game having been transferred to this city. The Hoppers suffered several defeats at the hands of Clarksville and are below Paducah.

In speaking of the recent series with Vincennes the Capital says: "Without exception the series which just closed between Paducah and Vincennes was the best played at League park this season and it is to be regretted the attendance was the poorest of the year. In the three games but four runs were scored, Vincennes winning the first and third by scores of 1 to 0 and losing the second 2 to 0. The locals secured 17 hits in the three games and had two errors while Paducah secured but eleven hits and had six errors. But eight passes were issued by the pitchers, and there wasn't a wild pitch or a passed ball. In the three games Jimmy Flanagan in 1st did not have a chance. There was but one stolen base in the series, Lyman Johnson getting it and only three hits for extra bases. But five local players struck out in the series, Gwin securing credit for all, they being made in the second game. Vincennes went 24 innings in succession without a run, while Paducah went 13. It will be many a day before such a close and hard fought series will take place again. * * * Hixenbaugh drove out a terrific line in the ninth that Carroll got after a hard run. A slower fielder would not have gotten to it. This Carroll, by the way, is a mighty fast lad and played well in the series."

Notes and Personals.

Gauge at 7 a. m. marked 7.8 feet, indicating a fall of six-tenths of a foot in the past 24 hours. Weather clear and business good.
The "Tilda E." an attractive and roomy gasoline boat, owned by J. L. Ashford and R. H. Moyers, of Elizabethton, Tenn., came in yesterday afternoon, lying over all night. Her owners recently purchased her in St. Louis and are contemplating inaugurating a daily packet trade between Paducah and Elizabethton. She is 60 feet in length with all foot beam and her engines develop 10 horse power. She is propelled by a stern wheel driven by chains.
Captain James Koger, vice president of the St. Louis and Tennessee River Packet company, who went to Louisville on business Thursday night is expected home tonight.
One of the busiest spots in the city is the marine ways at First and Washington streets and an extra large force of caulkers and ship carpenters are busy repairing four steamboats. Capt. Mike Williams, the general superintendent, has his hands full and is delighted with the large amount of work being done. The four boats undergoing repairs are the General Pierson, a transfer boat, the packets George Cowling and Shiloh and the towboat Charles Turner.
Falling to arrive from Evansville last night the Reuben Dunbar came in this morning with a good trip and left soon after for a return trip. She will be the Evansville boat Monday.
The harbor boat Harth, of the West Kentucky Coal company, left this morning for Caseyville after a tow of coal in charge of Capt. Dick Council. On her return she will receive a large tow of stone at Roseclair, bringing it to Paducah.
The Ohio arrived on time today from Golconda, leaving at 2 p. m. for a return trip there.
The towboat I. N. Flescher arrived yesterday afternoon from Roseclair with a large tow of stone, leaving it here. She departed immediately for Roseclair and will return tomorrow with another tow.
During the good boating stage at present and while there is sufficient water at the Sisters bar to enable tows to pass, the government is having stone from Caseyville brought to Paducah which is now the receiving point for stone being used on the Mississippi. The I. N. Flescher is bringing stone here and the tow will be taken to the Mississippi by towboats from Cairo.
With a tow of ties from the Tennessee the towboat Henrietta arrived this morning and went on to Cairo to deliver the tow.
The I. N. Hook passed out of the Tennessee late yesterday afternoon with a tow of ties for Cairo.
The J. B. Richardson is receiving freight at the wharft and departs at 6 p. m. this evening for Waterloo, Ala., and Tennessee river points. She will return next Thursday.
The Bob Dudley will arrive Sunday night from Nashville and leave at noon Monday for Clarksville.
The ferryboat Robertson is making her regular trips today. Tomorrow she will run two excursions, leaving here at 2 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. for Metropolis.
Negroes have chartered the Dick Fowler for tomorrow and will go to Cairo in the morning, returning at night. The Fowler enjoyed a big business yesterday.
The Clyde is due Monday night from Waterloo, Ala., and will make a return trip next Wednesday evening.

The man who expects to fall in an undertaken is seldom disappointed.

New York, Sept. 17.—The prenuptial agreement between Robert Winthrop Chanler of this city and his bride, Lina Cavallieri, the prima donna of Paris, was filed today in the office of the register of New York county. Lina Cavallieri's full name is given as Natalina Cavallieri, spinster, an Italian subject, residence in Paris.

After defining the purpose of the agreement as designed to remove all doubts that might exist, owing to the different nationalities of the principals, as to the law governing their mutual property rights, the document proceeds to state that, "in consideration of the sum of $1 paid and said intended marriage," Chanler shall assign to his wife all his real estate, all his interest in the estate of the late Mrs. Laura Delano, subject to a mortgage of about $140,000, "for her sole and separate use absolutely."

For the same consideration of $1 and the intended marriage the bridegroom doth further covenant "to pay his wife $20,000 a year in four quarterly installments, "all payments free from income or other taxes," and "for the purpose of securing the payment of the said yearly sum," Mme. Cavallieri is constituted "his true and lawful attorney, irrevocable, to collect the rents and profits."

Power of Attorney.

Should the income from the real estate prove insufficient at any time to pay the $20,000 yearly agreed on, a second power of attorney is conferred to govern the income, pay from the fund held in trust for him by the New York Life and Insurance Trust company.

Should this additional income still prove insufficient, a third power of attorney is conferred to govern the income from the fund held in trust by the Union Trust company.

With the exception of these details, the agreement specifies that the property of each of the principals "shall remain the separate property and under the sole control of each of them, and furthermore that their separate and capacity generally shall be governed by the laws of the state of New York."

If Mrs. Chanler cared to attempt to compel her husband to carry out the terms of his prenuptial contract, the filing of the original here today by her lawyers would be her first step in any effort to interpose her rights between him and his creditors, who, it is supposed, will contest the agreement.

Lists the Real Estate.

The document not only confers the sweeping powers enumerated above, but it lists, parcel by parcel, all the real estate under its control. The list follows:

"All those three farms, known respectively as Cole farm, Chewell farm and Benna farm, situated in the township of Red Hook, Dutchess county, of an approximate area of 350 acres or thereabouts, subject to a mortgage of $6,000 or thereabouts; and, secondly:

"All the land and buildings formerly part of the Cosine farm, situated at New York and comprising: "Numbers 820, 832, 834, 836, 838 and 840 Ninth avenue.
"Numbers 831, 833, 835, 837 and 839 Tenth avenue.
"Numbers 360, 362, 364, 366, 368, 370 and 372 West Fifty-fifth street.
"Numbers 503, 505, 507, 509 and 511 West Fifty-fifth street.
"Numbers 17, 18, 19, 20, 45 1/2 and 47 1/2 north side Fifty-fifth street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues.

Encumbrance Is Small.

"And all other realty (if any) forming part of the share of the above named estate of the late Mrs. Laura Delano, subject to a mortgage of $140,000 or thereabouts. And all his right, title and interest therein, but subject to the mortgages thereon."

It will be seen that an encumbrance of $140,000 on the 30 pieces of New York real estate listed would amount to less than $5,000 on each parcel.
The agreement is dated May 31, 1910, and witnessed in the presence of the United States at Paris. It is written in English, on parchment made in London.
Before his marriage to Mme. Cavallieri, Robert Chanler married Miss Julia Chamberlain, from whom he is divorced, and by that marriage there are two children, Dorothy, 6 years, and Julia, 2 years old, now living with their mother.

Audicular Evidence.

THEATRICAL NOTES

The Theatrical Situation.

That Klaw & Erlanger are no longer masters of the theatrical situation of the country there is no doubt, but that they still have considerable "fight" left in them is evident from the chaotic conditions existing in the theatrical business throughout the country today. The National Theater Owners' association, comprising the owners and lessees of 800 one-night stand theaters in the principal cities of the country, early in July announced their intention of playing the attractions of any producer who applied to them for time. Klaw & Erlanger met this declaration with a flat refusal to furnish attractions to any house which played attractions not booked exclusively by them. They also denied producers the privilege of playing houses which they did not book. The National Theater Owners' association stood pat.

The result of this has been that about one-half of the important producers of the country have contracted to play the Shubert theaters in the large cities and are booking the smaller cities through the National Theater Owners' association. The other half have remained loyal to Klaw & Erlanger, playing the houses booked by them in the larger cities and such one-night stand theaters which they still control.

On account of the activity of both sides in building opposition theaters in these cities during the last two years nearly double the usual number of attractions are required in the larger cities, and producing managers have remained inactive this summer owing to the fear of assuming the heavy risk of new productions and expensive road tours in the face of present conditions.

The situation is so acute at the opening of the new season that experts in the business say that it can not possibly endure and that the losses already great will so increase during the next 30 or 60 days that a sensible working arrangement will be necessary to save appalling losses to both sides. Such an arrangement would operate to the benefit of Paducah in many ways, as the attractions of every producing manager playing this section could be secured.
Many managers have productions ready to send out on a moment's notice when they can see their way to do so without heavy risks. Notwithstanding the present situation it is quite probable that the next few weeks will bring about very bright prospects for the local season.

Black Patti's Annual Visit.

Year after year Black Patti and her company of singers, dancers and performers come back to Paducah, always with something new, and always adding to the numbers of those who delight in the peculiar sort of entertainment these odd colored people present. Black Patti is possessed of a rare soprano voice and she is surrounded by picked singers of her race in "A Trip to Africa," in which "Jolly" John Larkin, an eminent negro comedian, is featured. The rest of the company is the equal of those Black Patti has been bringing here for the last six years. They will appear at the Kentucky theater Monday. The down stairs will be reserved for white patrons, the two balconies being given over to colored people for the night.

Just Sensible Food Cured Him.

Sometimes a good, healthy commercial traveler suffers from poorly selected food and is lucky if he learns that Grape-Nuts food will put him right.

A Cincinnati traveler says: "About a year ago my stomach got in a bad way. I had a headache most of the time and suffered misery. For several months I ran down until I lost about 70 pounds in weight and finally had to give up a good position and go home. Any food that I might use seemed to nauseate me.

"My wife, hardly knowing what to do, one day brought home a package of Grape-Nuts food and coaxed me to try it. I told her it was no use but finally to humor her I tried a little and they just struck my taste. It was the first food that I had eaten in nearly a year that did not cause any suffering.

"Well, to make a long story short, I began to improve and stuck to Grape-Nuts. I went up from 135 pounds in December to 194 pounds the following October.

"My brain is clear, blood all right and appetite too much for any man's pocketbook. In fact, I am thoroughly made over and owe it all to Grape-Nuts. I talk so much about what Grape-Nuts will do that some of the men on the road have nicknamed me 'Grape-Nuts,' but I stand today a healthy, rosy-cheeked man—a pretty good example of what the right kind of food will do.

"You can publish this if you want to. It is a true statement without any frills."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville, in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

has been writing for close on to 20 years. It remained for Margaret Anglin to show her the way to the gold mine that lies ready to the hand of the novelist whose books can be successfully dramatized. Now that 'Helena Ritchie' has shown the way, Mrs. Deland is turning her attention to a play with Dr. Lavendar as the central dominating figure. This should be a rich prize for some character actor to create. Miss Anglin will open the season at the Kentucky."

The Al G. Field Greater Minstrels.

With what is generally admitted to be the greatest minstrel organization of his career Mr. Al G. Field will appear at the Kentucky at an early date. This season's very elaborate first part entitled "Minstrelsy in All Ages" will serve to introduce the evolution of minstrelsy in four scenes, presenting in the final transformation the pretentious biblical scenic spectacle "David the Minstrel and His Harp of One Thousand Strings at the Court of Saul." The Festival of Flowers; The Court of Momus; and American Minstrelsy in all of which numbers the entire company of 65 singers and dancers will appear. The immense submarine scenic spectacle is entitled "The Bottom of the Sea." A corps of wonderful contortionists headed by the wonderful impersonator Neiser will show the monsters of the deep. A positive innovation is the naval spectacle entitled "Ships and Sailors." "Perry's Victory on Lake Erie," the historical of all inland naval battles with the characters in life like motion, goes to make this naval spectacle the most realistic of the Field presentations.

Al Wilson Coming.

Al H. Wilson, the German dialect comedian, is underlined for an early appearance in this city, when he will be seen at Metz Klonikilly in "Metz in Ireland." There will be a complete change of songs provided by the star, noted among which is "My Queen of Dreams," which is creating such a furore among music lovers in general.

OLDEST THEATER.

Palace of Minos in Crete is Excavated.

The famous palace of King Minos in Crete includes in the labyrinthian plan of its courts, galleries and chambers a venerable and highly significant art spot—the oldest theater in the world.

If the discoverer of the extensive ground plans is correct in his hypothesis, this important monument in the history of the theater is situated a little to one side of the main entrance and forms an almost quadrilateral space, flanked by two wide staircases.

Father Homer alluded to this theater in his works, in describing among the pictured curiosities on the shield of Achilles a chorus which Dandalos dedicated to Ariadne.

The remains of such a structure, with its terraces of seats and the intervening plastered space, have been revealed in a significant light by recent excavations. The small stage room, of but 100 square metres, and the inconsiderable number of seats, whose number may have been increased by the wooden corridors in the rear of the steps, is explained by the fact that this ancient playhouse was erected not for the people of a populous city, but for the private amusement of the king.

The place reserved for royalty was probably a lodge whose foundation is visible in a wedge-shaped piece of masonry which extended into the angle of both staircases. The courtiers had their places on the steps and in the corridor, but the commons had to stand on the other side of the still distinguishable barrier, or had to view the stage from whatever point of observation that was available.

Thus the most ancient European ruler—from whom possibly emanated the name of the continent of Europe, for Europe was the name of Minos' daughter—possessed the first permanent theater, beside his illuminated rooms, his frescoes, his conduits for water and oil, and his altars and chapels. And the plays that were represented here are the oldest examples of a development of centuries, out of which grew the tragedies and comedies of the Greeks.

The divinity to whom these performances were dedicated antedated Dionysus, the wine god—the most holy, golden-haired Ariadne, the Aphrodite Amathusia worshipped in Crete and having her tomb in Cyprus, as Homer tells us.

The ancient Cretan theater represents a civilization at least four centuries older than that covered by the Homeric poems. But the dances of this earliest stage probably did not materially differ from those of which Homer sang: "Ardent youths, yonder, and shepherd maidens danced holding each other by the wrists."

Delicate veils fore the maidens; colored chitons, handsomely woven and duly shining with oil, covered the boys. The first came wreathed in flowers, the second bore golden swords suspended from silver rings. Thus they circled on twinkling feet, lightly as the skilled hand of the potter turns the plate to assure himself that it revolves; they ran, again in pairs, one side against the other. All about, the people thronged in masses, deeply rejoiced, watching the eager groups; in between an inspired singer struck into their midst and turned as he burst into song.

The only feature that was probably absent in these ancient terpsichorean pageants in Crete was the clown interlude. Mimetic representations were probably in vogue in these entertainments, as they are later on brought into connection with the veneration of Ariadne in Crete.

Thus the ancient festival plays on the ancient Cretan stage in honor of Ariadne, whose myths are intimately related with those of Apollo and Dionysus, lead in a straight line of development to the Greek drama.—Dramatic Mirror.

Personally appeared before me the 7th day of September, 1910, R.

D. MacMillen, Business Manager of

The Sun, who affirms that the foregoing is a true and correct statement of its circulation for the month of August, 1910, to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Notary Public.

My commission expires January

Daily Thought.

Four precepts: To break off customs; to shake off spirits; to meditate on youth; to do nothing against one's genius.—Hawthorne.

Speaking of Lina Cavalliere, may not a song bird feather her nest?

Liberty without discrimination seems to have been the political policy of the Metropolitan Traction company, which gave to the Democratic and Republican organizations alike.

The esteemed Commercial-Appel says a "joint appeal" will be made by the Patterson wing in Tennessee.

The question is, will the "joins"

respond again?

One advantage Lee O'Neal

Brown had over Governor Patterson was that he "appealed for vindication" to a remote and small constituency, whereas Patterson's vin-dication had to come at the hands of the whole people of Tennessee or not at all. If Patterson could have appealed to some precincts in Memphis, his "vindication" would have been a foregone conclusion.

Mr. Ballinger may depend too long even on the affability of the long suffering patience of his colleagues for his cue to retire. That man, Taft, for instance, has been known to laugh while swatting a mosquito, which possibly as much as Mr. Ballinger does, imagined it was basking in the presidential smile.

Tennessee has added a new compensation to her political situation.

National Committee man Mount-castle presided over the independent convention, which proceeded to reorganize the party by selecting a new state committee. Now the Patterson faction proposes to put the issue, "what is the Democratic party in Tennessee?" up to the national committee by declaring Mount-castle's position vacant and electing a new national committee man.

WORDS AND DEEDS.

In an editorial entitled "Battleships or Schoolhouses," J. C. W.

Beckham, who is a distinguished ex-governor of Kentucky, takes to task

Theodore Roosevelt, a distinguished ex-president of the United States for advocating an enlarged navy, and concludes, "our public school houses overshadow all other public agencies that affect the destiny of the nation." Would that such sentiment had guided the distinguished ex-governor during his incumbency.

The United States government paid to the state of Kentucky $1,300,000 in round numbers on old war claims.

The distinguished ex-governor used

$500,000 of this to retire outstanding bonds and applied $800,000 of it on a new capitol building, which required $1,000,000 to finish and created a deficit in the state treasury of approximately that amount.

Had our distinguished ex-governor bethought him to put that $1,300,-

000 into a permanent state school fund, we believe in his heart he would now be prouder of himself than he is when he looks up at capitol hill and studies the outlines of the magnificent building, which crowns its summit. Aye, Mr. Beckham your words are true, but your deeds will live longer.

WHERE REPRESENTATION

FAILS.

The result of the primary in Illinois was disappointing in one way.

All, or nearly all, the "Jackpot" beneficiaries were returned. To the irrepressible optimist, however, to whom exposure of weakness is always a sign of approaching reform,

the returns will give satisfaction.

During the last legislature a coalition between a certain element of Republicans and Democrats organized the legislature, and the Republicans violating their primary pledge, and Democrats leaving their party,

voted for Lorimer for United States senator. Three Democratic legislators confessed to receiving a bribe to vote for him and implicated others, including Lee O'Neal Browne, Democratic leader, and exposed a division of the corruption fund pro rata.

Browne was acquitted by a jury, the foreman of which expressed his belief in Browne's guilt, but his unwillingness to convict him on the testimony adduced. Browne and nearly all the suspects were renominated.

Now, it is unjust to say that the people of Illinois condone corruption and fraud. It is safe to say that a great majority in either party, if that majority had an opportunity to express itself, would vote against all these men. The great overshadowing fact in the situation is that the majority of the people of Illinois do not have a chance to express their opinions regarding Browne et al at the polls. Therein lies the weakness of our representative system.

Browne represents, not the state of Illinois, but a little mining district. He is a man of attractive personality, and he gets those miners what they want. In the spirit of fair play they do not object to his getting what he wants. If he is liberal with them individually and looks after their interests collectively, what do they care if he handles the money for the election of a United States senator, or takes money for stalling legislation affecting the city of Chicago, its vast corporate investments or the railroads of Illinois? It would be hard for anyone of those miners to trace the attenuated thread of connection between his personal welfare and the moral obliquity of the Illinois legislature.

So the Lee O'Neal Brownes of Illinois and Kentucky are returned year after year by the districts they represent, and though the hundreds of thousands of citizens affected by their conduct in the legislature may hold indignation meetings, and grand juries in other districts may return indictments against them, they request and are granted "vindication"

at the polls.

The system is wrong. No effort could work a reformation in a legislative body so composed. The theory that the varying interests of the districts would offset one another and thus secure a compromise that would benefit all, does not work.

The man, who is sent to the legislature today, must choose his course, either to play the game for personal gain financial or political by trading his vote for the best price; to cut up dices on the floor and win a reputation as a parliamentarian, or to go in determined to put through a certain program in behalf of his constituency and turn every circumstance to the advancement of that program. The multiplicity of representatives from small districts floods

the legislatures with special measures; no man can possibly hope to understand them, and the reformer, who expects to go into the legislature and do more than represent his own district, will be at the end of the session a very small bit of political wreckage, having done nothing for his district, nothing for his state and nothing for himself.

A dozen men elected from the state at large, holding their sessions in public, instead of doing all the work in the privacy of committee rooms, would get through all the laws for the benefit of the public in a short time, intelligently and honestly; and the voters would know who is responsible and just what the laws mean.

This argument does not contravene

the theory of local self-government.

That is not involved. Our present system is the government of a whole state by a small part of it; a government of the majority by a minority. That a change by electing a small body from the state at large would improve the personnel of the legislature, is indicated by the fact that we do not ordinarily nominate personally evil men to state executive offices. Their records are carefully scanned, because they must appeal to a larger, more discriminating and (most important of all) a more variously interested constituency?

THE EASTERN TRADE.

The open door policy, the awakening of China and the development of the Asiatic market will benefit the manufacturers of the United States

little, if the American manufacturer is not on the ground and does not know what the orientals want, how they want it put up, their systems of credit and methods of dealing and the best way of gaining control of the business. How to do all these things is ably discussed by J. Newton Nind in the Far Eastern Review of Manila, and it makes clear the part a ship subsidy and free trade with the Philippines must play in the operations of the American tradesmen.

There are three things we may do with the Philippines; we may let them go and be taken over by Japan

ROOSEVELT ON THE TARIFF

Whenever men just live ourselves, probably not much better, and certainly no worse—continually fail to give us the results we have a right to expect from their efforts, we may just as well make up our minds that the fault lies, not in their personality, but in the conditions under which they work; and profit comes, not from denouncing them, but in seeing that the conditions are changed. This is especially true of tariff-making. It has been conclusively shown, by experiments repeated again and again, that the methods of tariff-making by congress which have now obtained for so many years, cannot, from the very nature of the case, bring really satisfactory results. I think that the present tariff is better than the last, and considerably better than the one before the last. I believe this country is fully committed to the principle of protection; but it is to protection as a principle; to protection primarily in the interest of the standard of living of the American workman.

What we desire in a tariff is such measure of protection as will equalize the cost of production here and abroad; and as the cost of production is mainly labor cost, this means primarily a tariff sufficient to make up

An Enjoyable Time.

Quite an enjoyable time was had at the ice cream supper given last evening on the lawn of Mrs. A. B. Priant at her pleasant home on Langstaff avenue. The lawn was handsomely arranged with flowers and colored lanterns did their part to add to the scene. The cream went fast and Mrs. Julia E. Priant got the prize for eating the most cream, while Harriet M. Mauzy won the other by getting away with the cakes. Miss May Sue Ashby had the watermelon and did full justice to her appetite as did the other young people. Sister Culley held the crowd for awhile with her wit and funny sayings, while Mr. Ashley performed with some cunning performances. An enjoyable time was had the old folks filling the chairs and tables and talking of the weather, while the younger set occupied the swings and different spots on the lawn. A large crowd was present and each declared a pleasant time.

Married at Court House.

The first marriage at the court house in several weeks took place this morning when Miss Rosa I. Vick, of Ledbetter and M. Lacy McGrew, of Hamlettsburg, were married by County Judge Alben Barkley. The couple came to Paducah from Livingston county accompanied by a number of friends. The bride is only 20 years old, but her father gave his consent for the marriage. The groom is a prosperous farmer. The number of marriage licenses in September has been remarkably small, and the officials at the county court house believe that Cupid is on his vacation.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF METROPOLITAN SPRINGS SENSATION

During Year Company Contributed to Republicans and Democrats.

New York, Sept. 17.—The admission that every corporation with which he had ever been identified had not only contributed to political campaign funds, but had contributed to the campaign fund of "everybody that ever ran for office," was made on the stand by H. H. Vreeland, former president of the Metropolitan Street Railway company, who was the star witness at the session of the Merritt investigation committee.

Mr. Vreeland could only be made to specify amounts for the year 1903. During that year the corporation of which he had then been president, the Metropolitan Securities company, had contributed $20,000 to $25,000 to the Republican state committee and $17,000 to $18,000 to the Democratic state committee. The company may also have made campaign contributions locally, but the witness could not be positive on that point.

Adjournment was taken until next Wednesday.

CHAMPIONSHIP

TO BE DETERMINED BY POST SEASON GAMES.

McLeansboro and Vincennes Must Meet Somewhere and Fight It Out.

Plans for the playing of the post season games between McLeansboro and Vincennes to determine the pennant winners of the Kitty have not been announced, although President Gossnell has been in conference with the club owners. McLeansboro is a small town and the attendance at the regular games will be played in the town. It is the plan of President Gossnell for the two teams to play four or five games, the winner of three to be awarded the pennant for the season. The season will end Tuesday, and the championship series probably will begin next Thursday.

It is the plan for two of the games to be played in Vincennes, where interest is keen. McLeansboro is too small, and two games may be played in Hopkinsville, which has drawn the largest crowds of any town on the circuit. In case a fifth game is necessary to decide the championship it is proposed to pay the game in Evansville. Many of the McLeansboro players are farmed out members of the Evansville club and the city is near Vincennes, so a large attendance is assured.

NEW YORK STILL GAMBLERS.

Acting Mayor Mitchell Says It's Wide Open.

New York, Sept. 17.—That gambling is being run wide open throughout the city and under the "protection" of the police is the information which Acting Mayor Mitchell is said to have obtained, and the raid last night on a gambling house on West Forty-fifth street is said to have been made under direct instructions of Mr. Mitchell over the heads of certain police officials.

Several days ago Acting Mayor Mitchell is said to have handed a list of gambling places and the prices they paid for protection to Police Commissioner Baker. The list was secured by a quiet investigation by Mr. Mitchell. It is said the list shows that gambling flourishes throughout the city as it did several years ago.

LIVESTOCK.

Louisville, Sept. 17.—The receipts of hogs were 324 head, making a total of 3,563 for the week thus far. There was a good, active demand for all weights. Favorable reports from other markets helped the selling end and prices were 15c higher on good hogs, 90 pounds and up, than last week, selling at $9.65, with the light pigs at $8.00 to $9.00 and rough hogs at $8.65 down. The pens were well cleared early in the action. The market closed steady. Not near enough good hogs on sale to supply the local packers.

for a year or more, telling you that you ought to know all about the company that carries your fire insurance, but have you done anything about it? Many have, but the majority of policy-holders have done nothing about the selection of a company. They are still "fiddling."

In the history of fire insurance in America, a large majority of the fire insurance companies organized have failed or retired from business. To be insured in companies like Weil's, that have been in business a hundred years and will be in business a hundred years from now, costs no more than to be insured in one that may go out of business next week.

Receipts, 554; for the week thus far, 4,639. The market ruled quiet; but little doing, yet the undertone of the market was firm on choice butcher lambs, 4@5c; culis, 3@4c; fat sheep, 3 1/2c down. Common sheep slow sellers. Fairly good inquiry for prime to fancy stock ewes, but plain and common ewes are not sought after.

Cattle.
The receipts of cattle today were 111 head; for the week, thus far, 3,749. The buying contingent was of limited proportions today, the demand narrow as is usually the case at the end of the week, and really but little doing in any department. The market was generally regarded as being about steady, with some little demand for prime to fancy butcher cattle. Medium and inferior kinds dull and draggy. Green half fat 900 to 1,100-pound steers, without quality, might slow sale. Good healthy feeder and stocker demand at steady figures. Good bulle steady. Common bulls and canners dull. Milk cows slow. No prime, heavy steers on sale. The feeling on that class was around steady. The pens were fairly well cleared this evening.

Calves.
Receipts, 92; for the week thus far, 837. The market ruled quiet but steady. Bulk of the best veals, 8@8 1/2c; some fancy light calves, 8 1/2@9c; medium, 6@8c; common, 2 1/2@6c. Heavy calves are being discriminated against and are slow sellers.

IS DETERMINED
NOT TO RESIGN

BALLINGER WILL SUBMIT TO CABINET ASSOCIATES.

Meeting September 26—Secretary of the Interior Coming From Seat. He to Attend.

HE HOPES FOR VINDICATION.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Whether Ballinger's resignation as secretary of the interior will follow immediately upon the meeting of the cabinet Sept. 26th, to attend which he is now en route from Seattle, or whether he will retain his position indefinitely—at least until after the delivery to congress of the report of the committee which investigated his stewardship of the public domain, depends now upon the attitude of his cabinet associates.

Ballinger is coming, his friends insist, wholly unconscious of any act on his part, either of commission or omission, for which he should be condemned, and has determined to force his chief and his official colleagues to be, in effect his judges. If they concur in the view that the secretary shall be sustained as an innocent and persecuted man, he will retain his position. If this falls he will resign forthwith.

That this is Ballinger's present position was learned today upon authority. Improper to resign, vindicated or condemned, as he sees it, he has decided, it is said, to demand that his superior and his cabinet associates either clear or demand his resignation.

Receipts 800; market steady; native muttons $4.00@4.35; lambs $6.00@6.90.

TOBACCO REVIEW.

There were no sales on the local auction breaks.

The Louisville Tobacco Warehouse company issued the following review of the market this afternoon. "The sales on our market for one week, including today, amounted to 527 hogsheads, divided as follows: Burley 70; dark 457.

"Burley.—The offerings have been very small again this week, with prices firm for all grades.

"Dark Tobacco.—The market is very firm for all grades of dark tobacco, both the fired and unfired types. There has been some recent improvement in values for the common grades of fired tobacco.

"The new crop is being cut with the usual rapidity for the time of year present weather conditions are very favorable for that portion of the crop which has been housed. The outcome in the Burley tobacco crop since the beginning of August has again emphasized the great recuperative qualities of the plant, and many tobacco growers who a month ago felt discouraged both as to the yield and quality of the crop are now housing crops of average yield and good quality."

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York Sept. 17.—R. G. Dun & company's weekly review of trade says:

Some increase in business incident to the opening fall activities, is noted at many of the leading trade centers, but as a whole the domestic commerce of the country is still retarded by the impairment of confidence as the result of the political uncertainties. As a rule buyers are disposed to limit purchases to immediate requirements. There is a large movement of grain and cotton to distributing markets at declining prices, but the banks have thus far been able to finance this movement without strain.

The action of the London bankers in refusing the American plan of validating cotton bills of lading, however, creates a situation that might easily become critical if some compromise is not soon arranged. The recent improvement in the iron and the street trade does not appear to have been maintained and the actual conditions are best disclosed by the statement that the United States Steel corporation is now operating only two-thirds of its blast furnaces and that there is a large reduction in unfilled orders.

The dry goods markets, although showing fair activity in certain dis-

GRAY HAIRS BANISHED.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of seventy-five, while our mothers have white hair before they are fifty. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy and gradually restored the natural color. One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days on account of it souring quickly. This objection has been overcome and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow. It is sold by all druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

For sale and recommended by W. J. Gilbert.

tricts, particularly in the West, continue as a whole to be characterized by conservatism on the part of both buyers and sellers. While there has been considerable resumption of operations by New England cotton mills, the output is limited to the current needs of the trade.

Woolens and worsteds are dull and shoes are being traded in very slowly, though stocks are apparently low. Retail business has been stimulated by the return of people from their summer vacations and the beginning of fall buying.

Illinois Central Crop Report.

The Illinois Central crop report shows corn acreage in its territory, 105, condition 94; cotton acreage 96, condition 86; sugar cane acreage 96, condition 92; rice acreage 133, condition 90; tobacco 100, condition 97; crop conditions generally are fair to good. A large winter wheat acreage is expected. September car loading has not maintained the August average gain of 3 per cent, but is slightly above a year ago. Officials expect improvement when coal mining is fairly started. They have a comfortable surplus of cars. Grain movement continues heavy. General business is irregular without any noticeable diminution experienced or indicated. The management expects record traffic in October.

Week's Bank Clearings.
New York, Sept. 17.—Dun's Review tomorrow says:

Not since 1903 has the volume of bank clearings for the first half of September been so low as this year. Instead of expanding as the month progresses and the movement of the crops and activity of fall trade call for increased payments through the banks, clearings this year are contracting. For the current week total bank exchanges at all leading cities in the United States are $2,182,203,616, a decrease of 21.2 per cent., compared with a year ago and 25.5 per cent. under the corresponding time in 1906.

Many cities in all sections contribute to the loss, which is particularly marked at New York, where reduced stock market operations affect the total materially, and at Boston and Chicago.

There are gains at Baltimore, Pittsburgh and some cities in the West and Southwest, but none of them are notably large.

Mrs. Jacob Wilmert, Lincoln, Ill., found her way back to perfect health. She writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble and backache and my appetite was very poor at times. A few weeks ago I got Foley's Kidney Pills and gave them a fair trial. They gave me great relief, so continued till now I am again in perfect health." Gilbert's drug store.

Bessie Chapman Caught Trying to Smuggle It Through.

New York, Sept. 16.—Mrs. T. Irvin Chapman, who was formerly known as Bessie Chapman, the actress, ran afoul of the customs authorities on her arrival here on the Adriatic and was requested by the customs authorities to appear before Deputy Surveyor Smyth and explain why she had failed to declare jewels and clothing said to be valued at several thousands of dollars.

Before the Adriatic left Quarantine, Mrs. Chapman, who was formerly the wife of Thomas Irvin Chapman, of Brookline, Mass., a Standard Oil man, told a customs official that she had only $100 worth of dutiable goods in her baggage. Before she was permitted to leave the pier she was searched, revealing, it is said, a $20,000 necklace besides some other jewelry of considerable value.

Mrs. Chapman, before the customs officials had appeared, took occasion to deny the report that she was to marry one of the members of the Rothschild family.

Sweet Peace.
"Mrs. Naggett," said the doctor, "your husband needs a rest. He must go to Hastings for three months."

"Oh, splendid!" she exclaimed. "I'll be delighted to go there."

"Very good. You go there for three months after he comes back. That will give him six months' rest."

FIND ARMY UNFIT
FOR FIELD DUTY

INSPECTOR GENERAL IN HIS ANNUAL REPORT.

Gen. Bell Declares the Transportation Service Is Antiquated.

NEW TRAINING IS ORDERED.

Washington, Sept. 17.—If fearless criticism is calculated to benefit the army then Uncle Sam's soldiers should profit much from the comment upon their condition and abilities contained in the annual report of Inspector General Garlington, just made public.

One inspector points out a whole battalion of artillery started for Philippine service without a single field officer and one of the batteries commanded by a second lieutenant of less than two years' service.

In one department nearly a third of the line officers were absent from duty with their commands under detail, and altogether the situation, according to the inspector general, warrants the prediction of results of a disastrous nature, sooner or later.

Would Specialize in Army

The time for specialization in the army has arrived, in the opinion of another inspector. He uses the signal corps as an illustration, urging that only the small percentage of men in the line who show ability in that direction should be taught signaling.

People who think the United States army stands at the top of the profession would be rudely jarred to learn from Inspector General Bell that the field army is wholly unprepared for field service. Our transportation, he says, is the same as at the beginning of the Civil war, for our army has so far failed to make use of automobiles, traction engines and other modern appliances in the field. The weaknesses could be quickly developed if the present annual maneuvers could be replaced at least once by the march of a complete army corps, he says.

Wood to Remedy conditions.

Major Bell says: "While our infantry is composed of the best material in the world and is probably as well, if not better, trained in the use of the rifle than that of any other army, its marching capacity is below mediocrity, and yet it is admitted today that the fate of the battles of the future depends, as it has in the past, upon the marching capacity of the infantry."

To remedy these conditions Maj. Gen. Wood, chief of staff, today issued orders which will change materially the training of the army. All inspectors general will be required to submit the troops to an annual inspection in the field.

CONVICTED ENTICING WIFE.

R. B. Payne, of Franklin, Ky., Gets Six Years on Unique Charge.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 17. — Six years in the penitentiary was the punishment by the jury today in the case of R. B. Payne, of Franklin, Ky., on the charge of enticing his own wife to a questionable house. The accused was found guilty of enticing his wife, Mrs. Mollie Payne, about 30 years old, to a Third avenue house, where she died of heart disease when she discovered her sordid surroundings. There has probably never been another such case tried in the criminal court of Davidson county. The accused claimed that he was innocent.

Counsel for the defendant entered a motion for a new trial, which will come up before Judge Neil Saturday. Payne was remanded to jail, where he has been held since he was taken into custody shortly after the death of his wife, having been unable to make bond.

CHAPTER XI.

Miss Haldane listens to a Declaration. For some distance the automobile sped onward. Before one of the big wholesale buildings on lower Broadway, now entirely dark, it suddenly stopped in obedience to a signal from the tannery. A hand was laid on Gormly's shoulder, and a voice he knew and to which he thrilled spoke to him.

"Mr. Gormly," said Miss Haldane, "that was the most magnificent, splendid, dramatic scene I ever witnessed or participated in."

Gormly rose to his feet instantly and faced about.

"You were there, Miss Haldane!" he exclaimed.

"Didn't you see me?" asked the girl, a note of disappointment in her voice.

"And didn't you see me?" put in Miss Stewart opportunely.

"Well, girls," said Livingston Haldane, "how long are you going to keep up stopping here?"

"I was about to suggest," said Miss Stewart, "that Mr. Gormly and I change places. I don't want to talk to you particularly; but I know that Eleanor wants to speak to Mr. Gormly."

The words were not out of her mouth before Gormly had leaped to the street and opened the door. He assisted Miss Stewart to the place he had vacated, and took her place in the big roomy tannery. As soon as the exchange had been effected, Haldane started up the street again.

"I am sure now that I was aware of your presence, Miss Haldane," said Gormly quietly. "And because of that I know that I never spoke better."

"It was a great occasion," was the reply, "and great occasions make great speeches."

"That and the consciousness—unconscious, if you will, if I may use such a contradiction—that you were listening—dare I not say sympathetically?" carried me through."

"It was glorious. You played upon those people as I might play upon—"

"Me," said Gormly softly.

"Upon an instrument of music," continued the girl. "I think your election is sure."

"I think so too," was the answer; "but I am not indulging in any overconfidence, and there is to be no weakening of effort until the last minute."

They had by this time reached Fourteenth street. Although it was long after the ordinary time for the issuance of the latest editions of the newspapers, newsboys were already crying accounts of the episode on the streets, and papers were being bought eagerly on every hand.

"Mr. Gormly," she turned suddenly full upon him, "why have you said to my brother that I must not come to the store any more to consult you on business matters?"

"My dear Miss Haldane," said Gormly. "I did that for your sake."

"But why?"

"I have ascertained that I am being shadowed by practically all the detectives of the city hall force; that I am watched constantly; that all my visitors are noted; and I do not wish to involve you in any notoriety whatsoever. Therefore, although I had no knowledge that you would come or that you wanted to come, I thought it proper to advise you through your brother not to do so."

"Of course I wanted to come," said the young woman, earnestly. "I have read every scrap pertaining to the campaign. I have done what I could among such friends as I was able to influence to get them to aid you. It was through me that Livingston proffered his services. I even tried my father, but I have been unable to make any impression upon him; and I wanted to hear from you directly how things were going."

"I realize all that you have done, and you can't imagine, Miss Haldane, how great a deprivation it was to me to send such a message, and how hard a course it was to decide upon."

"I made Livingston bring us both down here tonight. But I never dreamed that I was going to be the spectator of such a scene as that which has just happened. I don't believe there was ever anything more dramatic or splendid in the history of American politics. Why, it was like a new Declaration of Independence! When that multitude surged back and forth, crying, yelling, threatening, and muttering, I followed every emotion in my own heart. I never was so thrilled in my life. I am glad to have lived through this, to have seen it, to have been a small part of it."

"You can't imagine," said Gormly, "how great a part of it you have been. I will not say that I am doing it all for you now; that would not be true or fair. But you were my inspiration in the beginning, your words, your presence, Miss Haldane, I have something to say to you."

"First of all," he began, "where are you taking me?"

"Anywhere you want to go. You said you had no engagement, you know," Miss Haldane leaned forward and touched her brother. He stopped the car again and turned about. "Mr. Gormly wants to know where we are going."

"I thought we'd swing over past the park and go out Riverside Drive. We can get a decent bite to eat in some quiet place along the river road, and a spin will do us all good. Is that agreeable to you?" answered Gormly gratefully. "And indeed I think I should like it very much. I had no idea how tired I was and you don't know how few opportunities I get like this for an hour's quiet enjoyment."

"Leave it to me," said young Haldane. "I'll turn you up at your apartment in proper time and in good shape. Tonight you are going to enjoy yourself and drop the campaign for a little while."

Gormly sank back in the luxurious seat as the machine started once more, with an expression of great relief. He had said he was tired. No wonder! The strain of three or four months' campaigning had been enough to test his nerve and vitality to the very limit. He had enjoyed no opportunity for relaxation. The pace had been too swift, the going too hard, for that. He had not dared to let up for a single moment. He would not have dared it then; but being caught up, abducted as it were, he gave himself up unreservedly to the joy of the moment. To find himself flying through the city by the side of the woman he loved, so near that he could reach his hand out and touch her, if he possessed the right, was happiness enough.

There was only one cloud on his horizon, and that lay in some information confirmatory of a suspicion he had entertained ever since Christmas eve, which had come to him that afternoon. It was now about to be settled beyond doubt that the controlling spirit of the Gotham Freight Traction company, against which he was making his great battle, whose downfall was after all the object of his campaign, not for any other reason than that.

"I understand entirely," she said. "And you—you will do you think?"

He stopped. "No," he said, "I shall stop there, with this moment, with this statement. I ask nothing, I expect nothing, and so far as a man can crush down his own feelings, I hope for nothing. I just want you to know the fact."

"I know it," was the answer. "Now, you must let me say something. I am, at least I believe myself to be, absolutely free. Sometimes I have thought that what you have said might be true, with regard to your feelings I mean; but I have tried to put it out of my mind. Your declaration, therefore, comes to me with a certain measure of surprise. You have not asked me anything, and it is just as well that you have not. I think I can say honestly and truthfully that I do not care for you now in the way you seem to care for me."

"Seem to care for you," cried the man impulsively.

"The way you do care for me then," returned the woman.

"That's better."

"And whether I could care in that way, I don't know; but at least I care for no one else. And while I hold myself as free as the air, when I hold myself as free as the air, when I speak to me again on this subject, I shall at least be ready to hear you."

"That is all that I can ask."

"Meanwhile I want to say over and over again how I respect you, how I admire you. The fine life you have lived, the splendid stand you have taken for public right, the crowning of your long and honorable and unblemished career with the success which I think I see before you and with the great opportunity for service, fills me with pride."

"Miss Haldane," said Gormly, "what you say to me is sweeter and more precious than the acclaim, the applause, the indorsement of all the rest of the people of New York. As I said, I began this to make myself worthy of you; but I would not be worthy of you, I would not be worth considering in any light, if I did not say to you now that I am carrying it on for the work and for the possibilities that it presents, as well as for you."

"I believe you," said the woman. "And I am glad to have you say that."

"Although there is nothing in my life so covet as you, Miss Haldane," went on the man with the blunt honesty that somehow appealed to the woman much more powerfully than more graceful and romantic wooing. "yet I had to choose now between you and this great opportunity for service to the people."

He paused and looked at her again, wondering how she would receive the statement he was determined to make. "You would choose the opportunity for service," interposed the woman quickly.

"I should have to do so. And yet you still remain my inspiration," said the man. "Your approbation means more to me than anything or everything else. I don't know what fate I have in store for me; but I doubt if I shall have another opportunity of the magnitude of that I have enjoyed to-night, and that you were there completes my satisfaction."

"Mine, too."

"Yet, there is another thing that I ought to say," continued Gormly, and this was the hardest thing he had ever attempted, he thought. "You have spoken of my career, of my long and honorable record, of my unblemished reputation. I have to confess to my shame that I am not altogether worthy of your confidence."

"What do you mean?"

not help me with the rest of the battle."

"Help you, Mr. Gormly?"

"Yes, Miss Haldane, I purposed to ask you to be my wife."

"Your wife!" exclaimed the girl. "It surprises you doubtless. Possibly it dismays you."

"It surprises me, certainly."

"And yet you must have known, you must have seen—you are woman enough for that—that I cared a great deal for your opinion."

"I will not deny it, Mr. Gormly," returned the girl. "Things you have said, not so much that perhaps as the way you have said them, have led me to think so. But I really never imagined—You see there is so much difference."

"I know that I am almost old enough to be your father," returned the man gravely. "I am no boy. Therefore, I am the more sure and convinced of what I say, and you can be the more sure also that I love you."

"It is a great honor that you pay me," began the woman.

"Wait!" said the man. "I am not through. I did not intend to tell you tonight. As I say, I was going to wait until I had something worth while to offer; but things that I have learned have made it necessary in my judgment to inform you of this fact at once."

"What things, Mr. Gormly? Is some one making charges against you or discovering things about you?"

"Not one. It is not of myself I am thinking."

"Of whom? Of what then?"

"As I said before," returned the man, "I can say no more. It seems to me that now my honor demands that I put you in possession of the state of my feelings. I am not asking you if you care anything for me, I realize that you could not. It is easy for me to have fallen in love with you, indeed I don't see how I could have helped it; but the case with you is different. And I want you to know, whatever happens in these closing days of the campaign, that I do truly and devotedly love you. Great God! Miss Haldane, I haven't used these words to a soul since I was a boy. You can't know what they mean to me, what I would like to have them mean to you. Some day, it may be soon, I shall ask you to be my wife; but now all that I want to impress upon you is that whatever happens to me or anyone, I am pledged to you in my heart forever. Nothing can make any difference in my feelings. You understand that?"

"I understand entirely," she said.

"And you—you will do you think?"

He stopped. "No," he said, "I shall stop there, with this moment, with this statement. I ask nothing, I expect nothing, and so far as a man can crush down his own feelings, I hope for nothing. I just want you to know the fact."

"I know it," was the answer. "Now, you must let me say something. I am, at least I believe myself to be, absolutely free. "What do you mean?"

"Ever since I have been in New York, there is no act of my life that I could not tell you myself; but before that—"

"You were a boy then," said the woman quickly.

"But I mingled with life in an ugly way."

"That ride in the snow?" she whispered, staring at him in turn.

It did not occur to him to lay any emphasis upon or draw any inference from the fact that she had remembered his remarks of several months before.

"And that other woman, was it she for whom you rode?" she went on.

"Yes," said he.

"Did you do anything that makes you unworthy the respect of—"

"Not anything dishonorable in one sense," answered Gormly. "And whatever it was, I have repented of it long since and would have made amends if I could have done so; but—"

"Well, if I ever should come to you with that question about being my wife, I will tell you all about it. As it is, I don't want even the faintest shadow of a pretense about myself where you are concerned."

"You were only a boy, as you say, Mr. Gormly," said Miss Haldane after a long pause. "I don't know what it is, nor do I wish to, now. I know what you are, the world knows what you have been since you have been here, and I—"

She extended her hand to him. "I trust you, I would trust you with anything."

The man took it in both his own. They were stretching out beyond the city. No one was near. The two in front were busy about their own concerns. He bent over and kissed it fervently.

"I thank you for that," he said simply, as he released it.

CHICAGO LEADS ALL CITIES.

Ahead of New York This Month in Postal Business.

Washington, Sept. 17. — For the first time in the history of the postal service, the postal receipts of Chicago have calendar month. A statement of the gross postal receipts for August, 1910, in the large cities of the country was made public today, and showed receipts as follows:

Chicago, $1,666,484.15; New York, $1,610,785.42. The increase of Chicago over August, 1909, when the receipts were $1,410,251.09, is 18.16 per cent; the actual increase being $256,233.06. For New York the increase is 11.64 per cent, and the actual increase $167,955.21.

Chicago has been hanging on the heel of New York in postal receipts for about two years, and it is the judgment of postal officials that hereafter it will exceed the postal receipts of New York with great frequency.

PUSH POTASH PROBE.

U. S. Official Investigating Conditions in Germany.

Berlin, Sept. 17.—M. H. Davis, commercial adviser to the American department of state, arrived here today to inquire on behalf of Secretary Knox, the German viewpoint toward the potash controversy. Potash, which is produced only in Germany, is used extensively in the production of fertilizers in America. Recently the German government took over many of the mines, establishing a practical monopoly, seriously affecting existing American contracts. The state department made representations to Berlin and Mr. Davis is here to further the negotiations then begun.

Mr. Davis is accompanied by representatives of all the potash importing companies of his country, some sixty-odd in number, the aggregate capital of whose companies is in the neighborhood of $200,000,000.

Among the number are Robert S. Bradley, of the American Agricultural Chemical company; C. H. MacDowell, of Armours; Abram C. Read of Nashville, Tenn.; and B. H. Brewster, Jr., of Philadelphia.

A Reliable Medicine—NOT A NARCOTIC.

Mrs. F. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says Foley's Honey and Tar saved her little boy's life. She writes: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar has many times saved us from trouble and we are never without it in the house. By personal solicitation on the approval given recently through the kindness of our two daily papers, and in answer to the call for relief, two ladies withholding their names, gave $5 each and the First Presbyterian Sunday school in the absence of their pastor, gave an offering of $5.77. With this and with six others who gave $5 each, and several others who gave smaller amounts, we will be able to settle about one-half of the rent arrears with our landlord, who has been extremely lenient and kind to your mission work, and we insist that the churches of the city respond to an offering, if it should be only five or ten cents a member. With that amount and from others that we feel will respond to the five dollar call, and other small amounts, we will be able to read our title clear to debt incumbrance and continue the effort already begun and signed by three for $100 each towards buying the place now occupied by your mission workers, to make permanent this effort, having been tested for years as a relief home for the unfortunate poor of our midst. Gratefully, R. W. Chiles, pastor; Mrs. Ida B. Chiles, assistant.

County Teachers Meet.

Today the McCracken County Teachers' association was in session at the Fieldland school. There was a large attendance of teachers, and a splendid program was heard during the day. Prof. W. H. Sugg, Prof. Guy Whitehead, and Prof. Hugh Craig, of the city schools, left this morning to attend the session.

Besides Great Britain, the countries which have old-age pensions are Denmark, France, Belgium, Germany, New Zealand and Australia.
